

Contents

Introduction vii

PART 1: SETTING THE STAGE— TECHNOLOGY IN THE COMMUNITY

- Chapter 1: What Is Community Technology? 3
Michael Crandall and Karen E. Fisher
- Chapter 2: The Communities Connect Network 11
Michael Crandall and Karen E. Fisher
- Chapter 3: The Research Context 17
Michael Crandall and Karen E. Fisher

PART 2: REAL LIFE EXAMPLES— MAKING AN IMPACT ON THE INDIVIDUAL, FAMILY, AND COMMUNITY

- Chapter 4: Reel Grrls—Using Technology to Empower
Young Women 33
Carol F. Landry
- Chapter 5: La Casa Hogar—Bringing Families Into the Community 43
Carol F. Landry and Rebecca Kuglitsch
- Chapter 6: 4-H Network News—Teaching Youth to Build Community 53
Jack Baur and Sonja Sutherland
- Chapter 7: Tacoma Clubhouse—Helping Students Succeed 63
*Rebecca Kuglitsch, Meghan Madonna, and Sophy
Johnston*
- Chapter 8: Yesler Terrace Community Center—Growing
Out of Poverty 71
Maggie Hardiman and Barbara McKnight
- Chapter 9: Washington CASH—Building Financial Assets 79
Sophy Johnston and Esther Benson

vi Digital Inclusion

Chapter 10: Delridge Neighborhoods Development Association—Integrating Learning With Living 87
Meghan Madonna and Theresa Benson

Chapter 11: Analyzing the Impacts 95
Carol F. Landry

PART 3: A FRAMEWORK FOR MEASUREMENT

Chapter 12: The Situated Logic Model: A Method for Measuring Impact 109
Charles M. Naumer

Chapter 13: The Process: Putting It All Together 119
Charles M. Naumer

Chapter 14: The Situated Logic Model in the Real World 129
Charles M. Naumer

Chapter 15: Resources and Further Exploration 143
Michael Crandall and Karen E. Fisher

Appendix A: Washington State Law 6438 149

Appendix B: Presentation to Senate Economic Development, Trade and Management Committee 159

Appendix C: Community Technology Center Evaluation: CTC Staff Telephone Survey Guide 167

About the Contributors 173

About the Editors 177

Index 181