

About the Authors

Judith Siess was the publisher and editor of The One-Person Library: A Newsletter for Librarians and Management, which had an international circulation, from 1998 to 2006. She now writes the blog, OPL Plus (Not Just for OPLs Anymore), which can be read at <http://opls.blogspot.com>. She spent 16 years as a working librarian, most of the time as an OPL. She was the first chair of the Solo Librarians Division of the Special Library Association. She has visited and presented workshops to librarians all over the U.S.A. and in South Africa, Canada, Germany, England, Spain, Australia, and New Zealand. She is a member of the American Association of Law Libraries, Australian Library and Information Association, Canadian Library Association, Chartered Institute of Library and Information Professionals (U.K.), Church and Synagogue Library Association, Library and Information of New Zealand Aotearoa, Library and Information Association of South Africa, Medical Library Association, and Special Libraries Association. She received her MSLIS from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1982. Judith lives in Richmond Heights, Ohio (a suburb of Cleveland) with her husband, Steve Bremseth, and two cats, Harry Potter and Hermione Granger.

Judy is the author of five other books: The SOLO Librarian's Sourcebook (1997), The OPL Sourcebook (2001), The Visible Librarian: Asserting Your Value with Marketing and Advocacy (2003), and The Essential OPL, 1998–2004: The Best of Seven Years of The One-Person

Library: A Newsletter for Librarians and Management (2005). She has also written articles for several professional publications.

A product of the former College of Librarianship Wales, Aberystwyth, the editor of Part 2, John Welford, spent the first half of his career as a librarian in institutes of higher and further education in the U.K. In 1987 he returned to Aberystwyth to take a master's degree in computer applications for libraries and then changed direction toward the high-tech industrial sector, working as a solo librarian for H-P Labs and Marconi before being made redundant (laid off) in 2002. He now works as a freelance proofreader and indexer with a portfolio of customers that includes international students, a translator in Kazakhstan, the Dickens Fellowship, and The One-Person Library. He lives in central England with wife Sue, son David, and cat Edwy.
