About the Contributors and Project Leaders

Kari Branjord
Kari Branjord is the director of Web Development at the University of Minnesota. Email: branj002@umn.edu.

Francisco (Frank) Chang
Francisco (Frank) Chang is the system analyst and technical liaison for the Office of Academic Records & Registrar at University of Southern California (USC). He was responsible for testing the various alpha and beta versions of the system prior to deployment and writing, designing, and encoding the online user instructions as well as the Flash-enhanced tutorial. Frank has a BS in Kinesiology and an MCSE license. E-mail: fjc@usc.edu

John W. Collins, Jr.
Dr. John W. Collins, Jr., Ed.D. has over a quarter-century of experience between the United States Army and several educational institutions. Currently he serves on the faculty at Seton Hall University (NJ) in the College of Education and Human Services with the Department of Education Leadership, Management and Policy. His teaching and research interests are adult education, leadership, administration, educational technology and distance learning. E-mail: collinjo@shu.edu

Terry Corwin
Dr. Terry Corwin has served as the Director of Instructional Technology at Valley City State University (ND) for the past seven years. She facilitates the student electronic portfolio process on the campus and assists with the campuswide notebook computer initiative. She was a co-coordinator for the NCA self-study in 2001 and has been a successful grant writer and director for the past two years. Previously she was a faculty member in the division of Health and Physical Education at VCSU. Terry received her B.A. in health & physical education from Gustavus Adolphus College, an M.S. in physical education from Minnesota State University at Moorhead, and a Ph.D. in Instructional Technology from Iowa State University. E-mail: terry_corwin@mail.vcsu.nodak.edu

Rebecca Frost Davis

Rebecca Frost Davis is the Assistant Director for Instructional Technology at the Associated Colleges of the South Technology Center (TX), where she works with classicists, IT staff, software engineering faculty and interns, as well as other groups interested in inter-institutional collaboration. Rebecca received her Ph.D. in Classical Studies from the University of Pennsylvania, and has been a faculty member at Southwest Missouri State University, Rhodes College, Denison University, and the University of the South. E-mail: rdavis@colleges.org

Dennis V. Day

Dennis V. Day has been with Johnson County Community College (KS) since 1984 and is the Dean of Student Services. Throughout his tenure he has been an advocate of innovative student systems and proponent of the recently built Student Success Center, which provides students with a one stop for admissions, advisement, assessment, career planning, enrollment, and financial aid. Using Web-based services and personalized attention, students are encouraged to engage in self-service processes where appropriate. With a doctorate in higher education from the University of Kansas, Dr. Day has been in education for 27 years. E-mail: dday@jccc.net

Fred Dear

Fred Dear has been employed in the Registrars' profession at University of Southern California (USC) since 1966 and received his MS in Education from the university in 1969. He was directly involved in the design and implementation of the first online integrated registration system in 1980; composed most of the voicecom script for the implementation of the TouchTone registration system in 1988; and in 2001 participated in the design and release of the new Web-based registration system. E-mail: dear@usc.edu

Michael (M. P.) Evans

Dr. Michael Evans is a lecturer at the University of Reading (UK). His interests include Web dynamics, Web technologies, and cultural information flow. E-mail: M.Evans@computer.org

Mary Helen Fagan

Dr. Mary Helen Fagan is an Assistant Professor of Information Systems in the College of Business and Technology at the University of Texas at Tyler. Dr. Fagan has worked as a managerial consultant for Andersen Consulting (now Accenture) and as Manager of User Services in the Academic Computing Services Department at the University of Texas at Arlington. E-mail: mfagan@mail.uttyl.edu

A. C. M. Fong

A.C.M. Fong is an Assistant Professor in Computer Engineering at Nanyang Technological University (Singapore). His research interests include various aspects of Internet and multimedia technologies, and communications. He graduated from Imperial College, London and University of Auckland. He is a member of IEEE and IEE, and is a Chartered Engineer registered in the UK. E-mail: acmfong@pmail. ntu.edu.sg.

Steven (S. M.) Furnell

Dr. Steven Furnell is currently a Reader at the University of Plymouth (UK). His interests include IT security, Internet and Web technologies, and information society issues. E-mail: sfurnell@network-research-group.org

Jane Gao

Jane Gao has over 14 years of software development experience, specifically in software analyzing and designing. Jane holds a bachelor's degree in Computer Science. Jane is leading many campuswide Web application projects at University of California (UC), Irvine. Jane has been with UC for 10 years. E-mail: jane@uci.edu

Mollie Gore

Mollie Gore is a staff writer for University Relations at Charleston Southern University. E-mail: mgore@csuniv.edu

Nichole Howa Greenwood

Nichole Howa Greenwood is a Telecommunications Coordinator at Westminster College in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Jeff Guan
Jeff Guan is Associate Professor of Computer Information Systems at the University of Louisville. He teaches, writes, and consults on database systems, business intelligence technologies, and e-commerce technologies. He has extensive data warehousing consulting experience with organizations of all sizes, both in the private and public sectors. His current research interests pertain to the organizational and strategic issues in establishing information value chain in higher education. E-mail: jeff.guan@louisville.edu

Thomas Hauck
Thomas Hauck has been employed at University of Southern California (USC) since 1995 and helped design the online student service OASIS (Online Academic Student Information System). His primary involvement is back end and infrastructure technology. He initially started the design and prototype implementation of the Web registration project and later took the lead of a group of four programmers. Thomas has an MS in Electrical Engineering Control Systems and an MS in Computer Networks. He is currently implementing Global Directory Services for the university. E-mail: hauck@usc.edu

Carole A. Hayes
Carole Hayes is the Coordinator for External Relations in the Office for Distributed and Distance Learning at Florida State University. She has worked in continuing education and distance learning for the past 10 years. She came to FSU in August 1998 and was instrumental in the design, development, and implementation of student support services for online learners. E-mail: CHayes@oddl.fsu.edu

S. C. Hui
S. C. Hui is an Associate Professor in the School of Computer Engineering at Nanyang Technological University (Singapore). His current research interests include data mining, Internet technology, and multimedia systems. He received his B.Sc. degree in Mathematics in 1983 and a D. Phil. degree in Computer Science in 1987 from the University of Sussex, UK. He worked in IBM China/Hong Kong Corporation as a system engineer from 1987 to 1990. E-mail: asschui@ntu.edu.sg

Eric Jansson

Eric Jansson is the Assistant Director for Systems and Development at the Associated Colleges of the South Technology Center (TX). Eric specializes in software design and requirements analysis for learning management and educational content management systems. He has been developing software for secondary and university-level institutions for the past 6 years in both the commercial and public spheres. Eric attended Cornell University and has a Masters degree in English from the University of Texas at Austin. He studied Computer Science at UT Austin. E-mail: ejansson@colleges.org

Les Lloyd

Les is associate vice-president for Information Technology at Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida. In that role, Les is responsible for all areas of technology including academic and administrative computing, networking and systems, desktop and laptop repair as well as instructional technology. Les has worked in higher education technology administration for over 20 years and has published several books on the various areas of higher education technology. E-mail: llloyd@rollins.edu

Del Lovitt

Del Lovitt, Senior Data Integration Analyst at Johnson County Community College (KS), leads implementation teams of projects to completion, and consults on services to Student Services staff in association with the business process as it interfaces with the administrative computing system. In her current position, her primary objective is to understand and help implement institutional visions. Del has a Bachelor of Science degree from Fort Hays State University. E-mail: dlovitt@jccc.net.

Eunice M. Merideth

Dr. Eunice M. Merideth is the Associate Dean and a Professor in the Drake University (IA) School of Education. She has designed and taught courses with and about technology for 16 years at the university level and worked with technology integration at all levels of education. She has also been an Academic Computing Fellow with Drake University, a position that supported Web-assisted and Web-based instruction by providing curriculum and Web design as well as professional development for faculty across the university. Besides support activities, Dr. Merideth has led an interdisciplinary team of professors in designing and implementing an all-university concentration for Studies in Information Technology. E-mail: eunice.merideth @drake.edu

Chris Muñoz
Chris Muñoz, former Vice President for Enrollment Management at the University of Dayton, has 30 years of professional experience in enrollment management including student recruitment, admission, financial aid and the office of the registrar. Muñoz has held positions at California Lutheran University, Humboldt State University, the University of Oregon and the University of California, Irvine. Muñoz, who holds a bachelor's degree in theater arts from California State University, Fullerton and a master's degree in counseling psychology from the University of Oregon, is now Vice Provost for Enrollment Management at Case Western Reserve University. E-mail: chris. munoz@notes.udayton.edu

William Nunez
William Nunez is Associate Director for Planning and Budget at the University of Louisville. He is completing a doctorate in educational administration in postsecondary education at the University of Louisville. He has published in higher education journals on the role of information systems in institutional planning and strategic development. E-mail: wjnunez@louisville.edu

Elaine Peters
Elaine Peters' background includes 15 years of Human Resources industry experience, specifically specializing in the employment and staffing arena and a bachelor's degree in Human Resources Management. Elaine manages the Employment function for the University of California (UC) Irvine Campus. E-mail: epeters@ uci.edu

Suzanne Petrusch
After six years as the Director of Enrollment Management Operations at the University of Dayton, Suzanne Petrusch was named the Director of Marketing for Enrollment Management effective July 1, 2001. She coordinates and implements the marketing and communications plans for the enrollment management division, integrating various media and new technologies. She holds a Bachelor of Science in business administration from Trinity University and a Master of Science in education from the University of Dayton. Together with Chris Muñoz, she is a requested speaker at national conferences and delights in sharing information about the use of technology as a critical component of the University of Dayton's enrollment management and positioning strategies. E-mail: spetrusch@ udayton.edu

Paul Reynolds
Paul Reynolds, Ph.D., is a professor at the University of Plymouth (UK).

Marcus Robinson
Marcus Robinson began his association with the University of Dayton as a political science student in 1995, and was hired as a full-time staff member in 1998. He collaborates with Skill, Muñoz, Petrusch, and other key players to create ways in which the university will use Internet technology to sustain a competitive advantage. In managing the Internet Development Division, Robinson oversees the planning and development of innovative Web applications that enhance learning and support personal development. E-mail: marcus.robinson@ notes.udayton.edu

Stephan Ross
Stephan Ross is a Computer Support Manager and Webmaster in the Information and Technology Department at Westminster College in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Nancy Sinsabaugh
Nancy Sinsabaugh has been the interim director of the Office of Student Finance and interim director of the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid at the University of Minnesota since 1999. She was the architect of "paperless financial aid" at the university and directed financial aid, student billing, and student loan operations at the university's four campuses.

  Before joining the University of Minnesota, she was a student services consultant in Minnesota for two years, consulting higher education institutions on student services. Nancy also served as the director of student financial services at Harvard University from 1985 to 1993. E-mail: nsins@earthlink.net

Peggy E. Steinbronn
Peggy E. Steinbronn, Ed.S., is the Instructional Technology Specialist at Drake University (IA). She holds an Education Specialist degree in Curriculum Design with a Technology concentration. She has been an educator in the K-12 school system and at the university level. In her support role at Drake, she collaborates with faculty individually and assists them in honing their technology skills and online instructional strategies by leading faculty development workshops in the pedagogy of online instruction and design. She also provides assistance and support for online students and is the administrator of Drake's online courseware. E-mail: peggy.steinbronn@drake.edu

Ronnie Swanner
Ronnie Swanner is the Director of Instructional Media Services at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. He holds a BS degree in biology from Baylor University and an MA degree in Instructional Technology from Texas A&M University. He is a graduate of the Audiovisual Institute for Effective Communications, Indiana University and has certificates in Systems and Facility Design from the International Communications Academy in Washington D.C. He has provided consultant services to the U.S. Navel Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, School of Aerospace Medicine, U.S. Air Force, Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, The University of Texas at San Antonio, Texas, and the Academy of Health Sciences, U.S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. E-mail: RSwanner@Trinity.edu

Pat Ullmann
Pat Ullmann is the Production Manager in the department of Instructional Media Services at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. She holds a BA degree in geology from Trinity, where she was a Presidential Scholar. Her current management responsibilities include Trinity's Multimedia Development Center computer lab, the campus closed-circuit television information channel, and the campus video streaming system. E-mail: PUllmann@Trinity.edu

John F. Welsh
John F. Welsh is Associate University Provost and Associate Professor of Education at the University of Louisville. His administrative duties encompass assessment, institutional effectiveness, distance education, and faculty development. He teaches courses in higher education organization and higher education finance. His current research interests pertain to the role of assessment and information systems in organizational change in higher education. E-mail: john.welsh@louisville.edu